Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require management to evaluate tax positions taken by the Opera and recognize a tax liability (or asset) if the Opera has taken a position that more likely than not would not be sustained upon examination by the Internal Revenue Service. Management has analyzed the tax positions taken by the Opera, and has concluded that as of July 31, 2015, there are no positions taken or expected to be taken that would require recognition of a liability (or asset) or disclosure in the financial statements.

Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

Houston Grand Opera's vision is to build the most innovative, inclusive, and transformative opera company in America by establishing a financially sustainable work environment that attracts the world's greatest creative talents. Through a sustainable business model, HGO will serve as a cultural ambassador of excellence, relevance, and affordability.

Form 990, Part VI, Line 1a - Explanation of Material Differences of Voting Rights

All of the directors listed in Part VII have a single vote with respect to matters that come before the governing body except for Perryn Leech and Patrick Summers who share a single vote. According to the By Laws, regardless of whether two individuals are serving in the Office of the General Director, the Office of the General Director (Managing Director and Artistic & Music Director) shall have a single vote in any meeting of the Trustees, Board of Directors, or Executive Committee, where the Office of the General Director is present. Therefore, even though there are 44 directors listed in Part VII, there are only 43 voting members of the governing body listed in Part I and Part VI. Similarly, although there are two directors listed in Part VII who receive compensation, because they share a single vote, they are considered to be 1 voting member which is not independent.
